

Ultrasonic Transducers and Sensors

An ultrasonic sensor is only as good as its embedded transducer. We are specialized in developing and producing the right ultrasonic transducer for every application. Our customer-specific solutions represent the biggest part of our production. We accompany our customers from the analysis of the actual task to the first product idea and finally the serial production of the respective ultrasonic solution. To fulfill the varying customer-specific demands even better, we have incorporated an in-house production of piezocomposites. Hence, we are one of the very few manufactures worldwide that have this technological know-how.
